

Ability to communicate using the simplest of equipment and in the most adverse conditions remains an important aspect of the Amateur Radio Service. Morse Code skill is essential radio operation under such conditions. I urge the FCC to maintain Morse Code testing for Amateur Radio high frequency privileges.